

IE 509: Lab 4 Quiz

Write a Python class Result that models a student's academic performance. The class should contain the attributes roll no, name, and marks of three subject. The marks are stored in an array of integers. The class also contains the following functions:

1. The input() function is used to input values of data members
2. The show() function is used to display the values of data members
3. The total() function returns the total marks of a student
4. The avg() function return the average marks of a student